

Contents

Acknowledgments	v
About the Author	vii
Introduction	1
I. New Opportunities for Change	2
Priorities for a Sensible Energy Policy	3
(We have a new opportunity for sensible energy policy: Dallas Morning News , Nov. 2006)
Investing in the Future through Energy R&D	6
(More energy research and development needed: Austin American-Statesman , Nov. 2008)
II. Global Dynamics	8
Don't Blame China for High Oil Prices	9
(Don't blame China for high oil prices: Geotimes , Sept. 2007; Fort Worth Star-Telegram , June 2007)
America's Version of the Oil Weapon	11
(Conservation can be America's oil weapon: San Antonio Express-News , Jan. 2007)
Russia vs. Georgia: A Modern Energy War	13
(Conflict between Russia and Georgia adds new twist to the energy war: Austin American-Statesman , Aug. 2008)
America's Wake-Up Call to Action	15
(When it comes to energy policy, beggars can't be choosers: Austin American-Statesman , May 2008)
Climate: Time for America to Lead	17
(The U.S. lacks direction in climate change fight: Austin American-Statesman , June 2007)
III. Texas as Energy Leader (and Laggard)	18
The Great Texas Coal Fight of 2007	19
(Scare tactics clouding Texas debate on coal: Houston Chronicle , Feb. 2007)
Texas Can Lead the Green Energy Revolution	21
(Texas Monthly , May 2009; Houston Chronicle , Aug. 2007; Austin-American Statesman , Oct. 2007)
IV. Resource Constraints	26
Catch-22: Water vs. Energy	27
(Catch-22: Water vs. Energy: Scientific American Earth 3.0 , Oct. 2008)
Three Cheers for Peak Oil	32
V. Unclear Solutions	34
Coal-to-Liquids: The Good, the Bad, the Ugly	35
(Coal-to-Liquids: The Good, the Bad, the Ugly, EARTH , April 2009)
Epilogue	40
Competing Crises and Competing Priorities	41
Resources	45