IN MEMORIAM

RICHARD HOLLAND HARRIS

Dr. Richard Holland Harris, Assistant Professor of Pharmacy at The University of Texas at Austin, died on December 27, 1972. He is survived by his widow, Janis Roehelle, and his daughter, Holly.

He was born in Bruceton, Tennessee on May 31, 1943. After attending elementary and high school in Texas, he attended Southwestern State College in Weatherford, Oklahoma where he obtained a Bachelor of Science in Pharmacy, Cum Laude, in 1966. Following graduation he entered the Public Health Service and served a residency in hospital pharmacy at the U. S. Public Health Service Hospital in Baltimore, Maryland. In 1967, he was appointed Deputy Chief Pharmacist at the W. W. Hastings Indian Hospital in Tahlequah, Oklahoma. After his discharge from the service in 1968, he returned to Texas to practice retail pharmacy in Snyder.

In 1969, Richard entered the Doctor of Pharmacy program at The University of Cincinnati at Cincinnati, Ohio and received his doctorate degree in 1971. While obtaining this degree he served as Clinical Instructor in Pharmacy at The University of Cincinnati, and as Assistant Director of Pharmacy at Cincinnati General Hospital. Upon graduation he was appointed Assistant Clinical Professor of Pharmacy at The University of Cincinnati.

Dr. Harris again returned to Texas in August, 1972, to accept a position as Assistant Professor of Pharmacy at The University of Texas at Austin. During the semester preceding his death he taught courses in clinical and hospital pharmacy and served on the Visual Education Committee of The College of Pharmacy.

Dr. Harris was a Registered Pharmacist in Texas and Ohio and held membership in many professional organizations including the American Pharmaceutical Association, the American Society of Hospital Pharmacists, and the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy. He also was a member of Kappa Psi Pharmaceutical Fraternity and Rho Chi.

Richard is remembered by this committee as a progressive individual who was deeply concerned with the future of pharmacy education and practice. Although his career was short, he made an impression on his profession that will not be forgotten.
