

Custom as Law
Professor Kadens
1 credit, P/F

Admission into the course is by application only. As the instructor is currently engaged in research on the issue of custom, she is looking for students who will have interesting thoughts about the readings. To apply, please email your resume to ekadens@law.utexas.edu along with an answer to this question: "Why will you be an interesting contributor to the class discussion?" Applications are due by the conclusion of the early registration period.

After this date, the instructor has discretion whether to accept additional applications based on seat availability.
